PROFILE

My name is Patrick "Ryan" Caillouet. I am a Senior Front End Developer with over 18 years of experience specializing in architecting, designing, and programming user-friendly and visually appealing software for web and mobile platforms. I have a proven track record of building everything from simple websites to complex cross-platform mobile applications for both iOS and Android. I believe in utilizing the most suitable technology for each project and am passionate about my work. I absolutely LOVE this.

EXPERIENCE

○ Director of Interactive Development & Design

PhoneFusion / Laaser911 - February 2012 to Present

Lead a team of developers to build all types of applications for both the web and mobile devices (iOS/Android). Specialized in creating user-centric, high-performance front-end applications that helped to enhance the responsiveness and accuracy of emergency communication systems for 911. Developed intuitive interfaces that helped to improved location determination and emergency response times.

○ Senior Interactive Developer

Sapient Interactive - May 2008 to Jan 2012

I developed award-winning fullscreen Flash websites and games for clients such as Coca-Cola, Jeep, Chrysler, FIFA, Burger King, and Citibank. My role included ActionScript programming, timeline animation, and graphic design. I utilized APIs like Google Maps, YouTube, and Facebook to enhance user experiences, significantly boosting brand visibility and engagement.

○ Senior Web Developer

Redline Media Group - May 2007 to Mar 2008

I developed digital solutions for clients such as Warriors Boxing and Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino. My role included creating interactive Flash websites and applications using ActionScript, timeline animation, and graphic design. Additionally, I designed and implemented backend systems with MySQL and PHP, ensuring robust solutions. My work contributed to the success of numerous high-profile projects and campaigns, delivering impactful results for our clients.
